The Water Supply Project will diversify the Monterey Peninsula’s water supply portfolio. These new sources of water will be sustainable and help protect against drought while also protecting the natural resources of the Carmel River.